If you wonder:

- “Can I be an artist?”
- “Do I want to study music at university?”
- “What does it take to be a professional musician?”
- “How do I make money with music?”

The Bridge & Wolak Music Mentorship (MMP) program is for you!

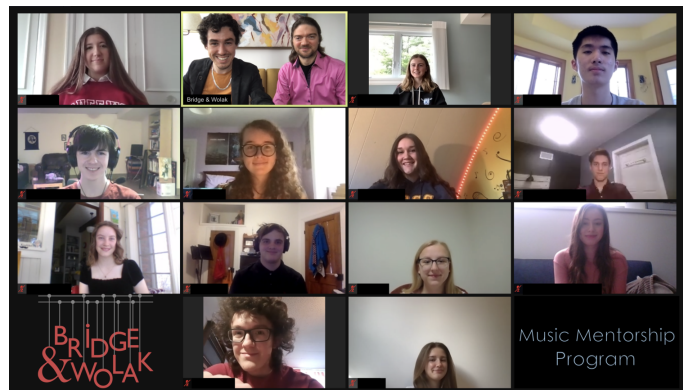

The Bridge & Wolak MMP is great for students with varying musical backgrounds: whether you’re searching for your artistic self, are interested in starting a band, want to study music at university, or even want to prepare for a world tour. Our program is here to guide you through all you’ll need to know and help prepare you for an exciting future in the music industry.

The program is 100% virtual — you can join from anywhere!

The sessions — led by professional musicians Michael Bridge and Kornel Wolak featuring a host of special guests — showcase the different avenues you can pursue as a musician. Students will have the unique ability to connect with world-class musicians and experts in the field of music.

Whether it is video game music, world music, audio engineering, concert production, music cognition or beyond - these sessions will open your eyes to the incredible career possibilities for musicians!

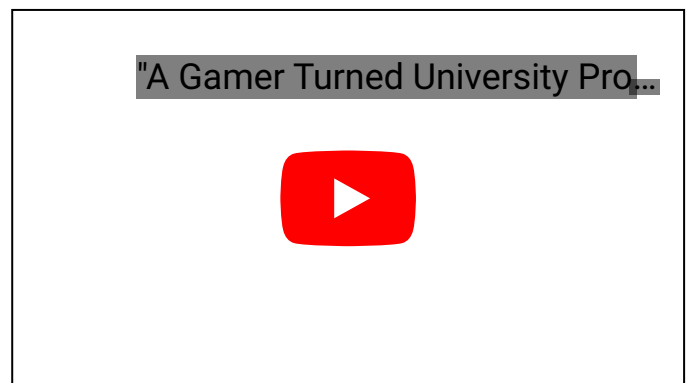

What to Expect from the Music Mentorship Program

- A safe and engaging learning environment where questions are thoughtfully answered
- Engaging interviews filmed in the iconic Isabel at Queen's University with a wide range of guests
- An interactive group coaching session (hosted via Zoom) each week
- Guidance and coaching from professional artists who perform, record, tour, and teach
- World-class guidance on stage presence, promotional materials, makeup, lights, wardrobe, and more!

TRAILER: Bridge & Wolak Music Mentorship Program

Episode 1: Video Game Musicology, with Dr. Stephanie Lind

How Does it Work?

The program is 100% virtual.

The program is 6 weeks long, and we meet for two hours per week (via Zoom).

Each session includes:

- Watching and discussing exclusive on-stage interviews with industry-leading professionals
- Live group discussions with Bridge & Wolak on becoming a music industry professional
- Plenty of time for questions! A fantastic opportunity for students to ask questions, get guidance, and connect with peers.

Testimonials

F.A.Q.

Are the classes recorded?

Our meetings on Zoom (where students can chat with other classmates and the instructors) are not recorded. The course includes some pre-recorded content (on-stage interviews) which are livestreamed during the Zoom meetings.

What happens if I miss a class?

Since all of the lectures are pre-recorded, students are able to watch them later if they miss the livestream. At this time students are not able to make up if they miss the live group discussion. If a student is interested in one-on-one guidance, they can book coaching here.

Is this course suitable for beginners?

Our course content is suitable for viewers of all levels - however in the live stream sessions we do explore some parts of the music industry that a beginner may find advanced. If you are interested in access to our course content only - please contact us for pricing and availability.

I'm camera shy, do I have to participate with the camera on?

We encourage all of our students to join the discussions with their cameras on for the session's duration. Having cameras on helps facilitate easier discussion amongst the class and helps build community with the group. This is a great opportunity to begin networking with your fellow classmates! We provide breaks throughout the sessions to give students a chance to step away from their computers.

Can I fast-track the program?

We encourage students to follow along with the schedule we've provided to be ready for the live stream sessions as a group. If you're interested in accessing our course content only, please contact us for pricing and availability.

What time zone are these events hosted in?

The live stream sessions are listed in EST, but we provide multiple options convenient for students across the Americas and Europe.

I can't commit to the program. Do you offer coaching sessions?

If you're unable to attend the course or are interested in more one-on-one guidance and coaching, you can book sessions with us coaching here.
