

Post

Gina “Rethink Normal” Murrell

@GinaMurrell1

For me, childhood wasn't "horrifying." My material needs were met, I was encouraged intellectually and artistically, and I was taught basic life skills. But I remember the feeling of powerlessness, my boundaries being disregarded and having zero privacy, not even in my own room.

 🗑️ 👍 👍 👤 👍 👍 🗑️ @dee_bluehead · Nov 28

Being a child is actually horrifying. You are, at *all* times, physically and socially at the mercy of every adult around you, bc that's what they all believe. Bc of this belief you will be disrespected almost constantly, are expected to have no boundaries whatsoever, & are

10:54 PM · Nov 30, 2023 · 5 Views

Who can reply?

Accounts @GinaMurrell1 follows or mentioned can reply

